

Disclosure for Clients Introduced by Third Parties

The undersigned Client(s) (the "Client") acknowledges and agrees to the following with respect to all Client's Accounts with ACM Group PLC ("Alpha"), which have been introduced by an Introducing Broker (the "Introducing Broker"):

1. Client has read and agreed to all the Alpha Account opening terms and conditions, including the Client Agreement, Risk Disclosure, Market Information Sheets and Privacy Policy.
2. Alpha cannot endorse the correctness or completeness of any information or advice provided by the Introducing Broker, or any other third party, to the Client, regarding CFDs, spot forex, spread bets or the risk involved, and shall not be responsible to Client for any loss incurred by Client using such information or advice. Trading CFDs, spot forex and spread bets is risky and past performance is not indicative of future results.
3. Client understands and acknowledges that Alpha may compensate Introducing Broker for introducing Client to Alpha and that such compensation may increase the cost of trading to Client. Alpha will provide Client with details of the commission and structure thereof paid to Introducing Broker upon written request by Client to Alpha.
4. The Introducing Broker is not an agent or employee of Alpha, and does not have any authority to act on Alpha's behalf or bind Alpha.
5. Introducing Broker will have access to Client's account information, including, but not limited to, account number, Client's address, phone number, e-mail address and trading history, to enable Introducing Broker to provide ongoing training and assistance to Client unless Client sends a written request to Alpha to remove Introducing Brokers access to such information. If your Introducing Broker was also referred too Alpha, that Introducing Broker may also have access to your account information to help facilitate the opening and servicing of your account. Introducing Broker shall not be authorised to trade on Client's behalf unless approved by Alpha and Client under the terms of a Limited Power of Attorney Agreement.

This additional disclosure is in addition to, and supplements, but does not replace any other disclosures provided to a Client by Alpha.

I have read and fully understand and agree to the foregoing.
